

Client Collaboration Guide

A clear process from first inquiry to final delivery

From Idea to Digital Reality.

How We Work Together

Our process is designed to keep the project clear, collaborative, and accountable from the first conversation to final delivery.

1 Inquiry

You share the idea, the reason for the project, the desired outcome, expected timing, and an initial budget range.

2 Fit Review

We assess whether the project fits the studio's capabilities, schedule, and working model. If important information is missing, we will identify what must be clarified before proceeding.

3 Discovery

A focused conversation establishes the project objective, audience, scope, required content, responsibilities, and definition of completion.

4 Proposal

You receive a written proposal covering scope, deliverables, timeline, price, payment schedule, revision allowance, responsibilities, and exclusions.

5 Agreement & Deposit

The project is scheduled after the agreement is signed and the required deposit is received.

6 Design & Development

The approved direction is developed through the agreed stages. Progress and key decisions are shared at defined review points.

7 Review & Revisions

Feedback is collected through one agreed channel and handled within the revision rounds stated in the proposal.

8

Final Delivery or Launch

After approval and final payment, the agreed files, website, product, access credentials, or deployment are delivered.

9

Optional Ongoing Support

Maintenance, content updates, technical support, or a new project phase may be arranged separately when useful.

What We Need From You

- One primary decision-maker and one consolidated source of feedback.
- Timely access to required content, images, accounts, technical information, and approvals.
- Clear disclosure of deadlines, dependencies, and internal stakeholders.
- Feedback based on the agreed objective and audience, not only personal preference.
- Payment according to the schedule stated in the proposal.

Feedback and Revisions

Revision rounds exist to refine the approved direction, not to continuously redefine the project. Requests that materially change the objective, scope, structure, or approved direction may require a revised timeline and additional fee.

Timeline

The project schedule depends on both studio delivery and client response time. Delayed content, access, feedback, or approval may move the completion date. Any fixed launch date should be disclosed before the proposal is approved.

Payment

The proposal will define the deposit and payment milestones for the specific project. Work begins only after the agreement is signed and the initial payment is received. Final files, ownership transfer, or launch may be held until outstanding invoices are paid.

Completion and Support

Final delivery includes only the items listed in the approved scope. Ongoing maintenance, content updates, new features, technical support, or additional formats are separate services unless explicitly included.
